Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 26 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Turning wet from the southwest. Drier in the north.

Today:
Dry for most to start, with sunshine in the north, but turning increasingly cloudy from the southwest by midday, with rain, sleet and snow following behind. Remaining dry across the far northwest. Scattered wintry showers over the Northern Isles.

Tonight:
The rain, sleet and snow will turn lighter and patchier as it clears southwards through this evening and overnight. Clear skies in the north will lead to a frost.

Wednesday:
A little patchy rain lingering in the south at first tomorrow but otherwise a largely dry day, with the cloud breaking up to allow prolonged sunny spells.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Rain, sleet and snow pushing in from the southwest on Thursday, gradually clearing south again on Friday. A few wintry showers in the east behind. Dry and sunny on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.